Notary songs composed by Valentine L. Murphy were sung and will be sung at the banquet Friday night.

The entertainment of the day was in charge of Raymond A. Parker, who announced that a prominent coal salesman had been scheduled to speak at the meeting but was unable to come because of illness. Mr. Parker then explained the intricate and oftentimes coal situation as it had been explained to him by various coal companies. The coal situation is not as bad as that of the anthracite coal. In that the supply of this kind of coal throughout the country is not affected by the coming strike, will be sufficient to carry on business in the country for at least 30 days.

The anthracite coal situation is different as the mines turning out this supply are 100 per cent. unorganized, and a strike will close them all, shutting off all supplies until the strike is settled.

The operators are asking a 20 per cent. increase in wages, an eight hour day and the checking system. It is rumored that the operators are seeking a reduction in wages which when added to the drop in railroad rates expected, will reduce the price of coal somewhat.

Following the talk Mr. Parker answered questions from the members and in answer to one about the future price of coal, said it would be lower in price this fall, but the amount was unknown and depended on the length of the strike.

It is not advisable, he said, to wait too long before placing orders for coal for next winter as a big demand is expected in a few months in the fall would bring a shortage and many house-owners could not be supplied in time for cold weather.

Parker about the situation in West Virginia if the anthracite strike came April 1st as scheduled, Mr. Parker said that there was a two months' supply in this state if coal was used normally.

The meeting closed with the singing of The Star Spangled Banner.

The Willimantic Woman's Club held an interesting meeting Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the club rooms. No. 301 Main street, the speaker being Mrs. Elizabeth Allen of Windham, who told interesting reminiscences of her trip to the Orient, which took the greater part of a year and during which she visited Japan, China, India and other far east countries.

Following the meeting the members held a social with the proceeds of which will go to swell the treasury of the Willimantic Welfare Bureau.

Henry Ruthven Monmouth, professor of history at the Connecticut Agricultural College, at Storrs, died Sunday morning in the dining hall of that institution as he was about to partake of lunch. Professor Monmouth during the earlier part of the day was seemingly in the best of health. Death was pronounced due to heart failure.

Professor Monmouth had been a member of the college faculty for the past twenty-three years, teaching history and part-time English. He was popular with the students and the faculty and a frequent speaker at historical events, academic and modern.

His permanent home was in Liverpool, and he was survived by his wife, Mrs. M. R. Monmouth and two daughters, Mrs. Marjorie Vibbert and Miss Isabelle Monmouth.

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the house and barn owned by Mrs. Morris Bass of Palmerston road, town of South Windham, Sunday morning, the loss being estimated at $3,000. The barn was completely destroyed when the fire was discovered by residents of that section and flames were shooting from all parts of the house, making it impossible to save anything. The house was completely destroyed, although Mrs. Bass had been living with relatives and friends during the past few months. The house was comparatively new, having been constructed on the site of another house that had burned down some fifteen years ago. An accident had been on the property some six weeks ago, thus removing much farm machinery, tools and stock which otherwise would have gone up in the fire of Sunday.

Judge Frank H. Foss handed down his decision Tuesday in the case of John Silverstein of this city versus Augustine Thew of Windham, town of Coventry, a regular action brought by Silverstein for four calves, three heifers and a horse, valued at $1,000, and $400. The defendant through his counsel has appealed to the superior court. The case dates back to February 1918 at the home of Mrs. Thew, where Mr. Silverstein, in making a deal for the sale of country, was painfully mugged by water thrown by Mrs. Thew. Mr. Silverstein later had Mrs. Thew arrested for assault, and she in turn had him arrested for attempt to rape. Both cases were tried jointly in June, Judge William R. Hawkins, and although Silverstein denied the charge against him he was bound over to the next criminal term of the Tolland county superior court. The case against Mrs. Thew was nolle.

Silverstein claims that after Mrs. Thew threw the water she took his coat hat and gloves, which he had removed to catch the chickens took forty dollars he had in his hands and took the other articles mentioned from his automobile, this taking place while he was blinded by the hot water.

William Timmins charged with carrying liquor on his person with intent to sell, was before the police court Tuesday morning, but the evidence was not considered sufficient to find him guilty on the charge and he was discharged.

Young Girls Need Care

FROM the age of twelve a girl needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give. Many a woman has suffered years of pain and misery—the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance of the mother who should have guided her during this time.

If she complains of headaches, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter make life easier for her.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for such conditions. It can be taken in safety by any woman, young or old.

Greenville, Del.—"I was under the impression that my eldest daughter had some internal trouble as ever since the first time her sickness appeared she had to go to bed and even had to quit school once for a week. I always take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound myself so I gave it to her and she has received great benefit from it. You can use this letter for a testimonial if you wish, as I can not say too much about what your medicine has done for us."—Mrs. Wm. S. Hughes, Greenville, Del.

Wauson, O.—"My daughter always had backache and leg-aches at certain periods and could not be on her feet. We read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound doing girls so much good so she began to take it. That is two years ago and she is a different girl since then, able to do any work she wants to do—and so well and strong. We recommend the Vegetable Compound to mothers with ailing daughters."—Mrs. A. M. Burkholder, Route No. 2, Box 1, Wauson, Ohio.

Wishing for sleep is a poor way to get it

A LITTLE wisdom in the daytime is a better assurance of rest than any amount of anxious wishing when nerves are a-jangle at night.

What you do at noon often has more influence on sleep than what you want and hope for, at midnight.

Coffee's drug element, caffeine, whips up the nerves, and when its use is continued there's usually a penalty which no amount of mental effort can avoid.

The part of wisdom, as so many thousands have found, is to turn away from nerve-stimulation and adopt restful, delicious Postum as the mealtime drink. Postum delights the taste, but brings no disturbance to nerves or digestion. Even the little children can share in the enjoyment of Postum at any meal.

It's better to anticipate warnings than to be driven by them.

It's better to encourage and preserve sound nerves and complete health than to listen to the clock ticks at night and say, "I wish!"

You can get Postum wherever good food or drink is sold and served. An order today may be the beginning, for you, of the great satisfaction and comfort which so many others have found in Postum.

Your grocer has both forms: Instant Postum (in tins) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) made by boiling for 20 minutes.
